FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

THE PALEY CENTER FOR MEDIA IN NEW YORK CITY PRESENTS AN EVENING WITH JEFFREY TAMBOR ON THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, 2016

The Upcoming PaleyLive NY Event will Feature a Special Screening And Intimate Conversation with the Emmy Winner

New York, NY – July 13, 2016 – The Paley Center for Media today announced its next PaleyLive public program in New York City will be held on Thursday, August 11, 2016 at 6:30pm ET featuring actor Jeffrey Tambor who recently won an Emmy Award for his performance on the hit Amazon Studios series Transparent. The exclusive event, presented by The Paley Center for Media, at 25 West 52 Street in Manhattan, will feature Tambor in a moderated conversation, discussing his candid descriptions of diverse experiences throughout his storied career. Following the screening and moderated panel, there will also be an interactive Q&A with the audience.

“Jeffrey Tambor’s character on Transparent has been paramount in changing the conversation and helping to bring the LGBTQ community to the forefront. The Paley Center for Media is thrilled to have an actor of his caliber participate in our PaleyLive NY program to share his wisdom, insight, and craft,” said Maureen J. Reidy, President and CEO of The Paley Center for Media. “It is the Paley Center’s mission to connect fans from all over the world with opportunities to experience television in a way they never thought imaginable. Having Mr. Tambor come to our stage to speak about his work and the industry is one of the many examples of what The Paley Center for Media continues to provide the public.”

With an illustrious career in television and movies, Tambor has been recognized by critics for his recent Emmy Award-winning performance on the acclaimed program Transparent. With a career spanning four decades, Tambor has delighted audiences with unforgettable characters in some of the most original and innovative programs in television history. From his Emmy-nominated performance as “Hank Kingsley” on the highly influential The Larry Sanders Show, to his more recent work as identical twins “George” and “Oscar Bluth” on Arrested Development, Tambor has been a lively and unpredictable performer bridging the lines between comedy and drama for a generation. Across his career, Tambor has also made appearances on such iconic series as: Taxi, *M*A*S*H*, Tales from the Crypt, The Ropers, Medium, and Max Headroom.

In both New York and Los Angeles, The Paley Center for Media’s PaleyLive programs continue to give TV fans the most thrilling and intimate experiences by bringing together the talented actors, writers, and creators with the audiences that love them, for exclusive screenings and panel events.

Tickets are currently on sale to Patron and Supporting Paley Center Members. Tickets go on sale to Individual Paley Center Members on Thursday, July 14 at 12:00pm ET, and to the general public on Friday, July 15 at 12:00pm ET.

About The Paley Center for Media

The Paley Center for Media, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization with locations in New York and Los Angeles, leads the discussion about the cultural, creative, and social significance of television, radio, and emerging platforms for the professional community and media-interested public. Drawing upon its curatorial expertise, an international collection, and close relationships with the leaders of the media community, the Paley Center examines the intersections between media and society. The general public can access the Paley Archive – including special African-American, Hispanic, and LGBT collections – and participate in programs that explore and celebrate the creativity, the innovations, the personalities, and the leaders who are shaping media. Through the global programs of its Media Council and International Council, the Paley Center also serves as a neutral setting where media professionals can engage in discussion and debate about the evolving media landscape. Previously known as The Museum of Television & Radio, the Paley Center was founded in 1975 by William S. Paley, a pioneering innovator in the industry.
