

THE PALEY CENTER FOR MEDIA

TRANSPORTED: 50 Years of STAR TREK

Captain Kirk Impersonation Contest!

Submission Information: Record your Kirk Impression, upload the video to YouTube and tweet it (the tweet must include @paleycenter and #paleystartrek).

Deadline: 11:59pm ET on Wednesday, Sept 7.

Choose one of the following Captain Kirk monologues for your Kirk impression:

From “Return to Tomorrow”

Risk.

Risk is our business.

That's what this starship is all about.

That's why we're aboard her.

From “The Corbomite Maneuver”

It may interest you to know that since the initial use of corbomite more than two of our centuries ago, no attacking vessel has survived the attempt. Death has... little meaning to us. If it has none to you then attack us now. We grow annoyed at your foolishness.

From “This Side of Paradise”

This time we walked out on our own. Maybe we weren't meant for paradise. Maybe we were meant to fight our way through. Struggle, claw our way up, scratch for every inch of the way. Maybe we can't stroll to the music of the lute. We must march to the sound of drums.

By uploading this entry into the contest, I agree to the Official Rules.
See Official Rules for more details.